

Grace Adventures

We had initially built Grace Adventures a website when we first opened our business. At that time they used a different content management system than our's. They were pleased with what we had given them before, but required a more powerful system and wanted a new site to go along with it. We set them up with our system and built them a brand new website.

The template design was completely custom. We included a weather component so families could see the type of weather that their children are enduring and a photo gallery that people can browse with different albums.
